Speaking of cemeteries- does anyone know of any people who lived in West Troy/ Watervliet around 1880 that were buried across the river in Troy? And in what cemetery? I have checked Watervliet cemeteries (St. Pats., St. Agnes, Albany Rural) and cannot find him. Unfortunately West Troy DPW did not keep detailed burial records like Troy. The guy I am looking for was born Protestant but raised his kids Catholic I assume because he married one. Thanks for any ideas, MIke

My mother-in-law is caring for a 93 year old whose husband is buried there, and when she expires will go beside him. From what we can tell, it won't be long now...I also heard it was closed though, I will check with her to see if she knows of a church affiliation...might be good knowledge for someone looking.

TROY CEMETERIES

Pages 91-93

The first burying-ground seen on the site of Troy by the early settlers was that of the Van der Heydens, - a small plat fenced with pales, at the east ends of lots 37 and 38 at the south-east corner of River and Congress streets. In excavating for the foundation of one of the buildings erected in later years on them, the remains of some bodies buried there were disinterred.

After Jacob D. Van der Heyden removed to his mansion, at the head of Grand Division Street, he inclosed a small plat of ground on the eastern hill, a short distance north of the site of the Provincial Seminary, for a family graveyard. In it he and other members of his family were buried. In July, 1857, the remains in it were transferred to graves in Oakwood Cemetery.

The burial-ground of the Schuyler family was not far north of the homestead, south of the Poesten Kill, near the later intersection of First and Madison streets. The following inscriptions were copied from some of the headstones marking the graves there, in 1848: "Colonel Stephen J. Schuyler, died Dec. 14, 1820, aged 83 yrs." "Helen, wife of Col. Stephen J. Schuyler, died May 22, 1818, aged 72 yrs, ." Barent Schuyler, born April 12, 1780; died Feb. 11, 1833, aged 52 yrs, 9 mos., 29 days." "Tobias R. Schuyler, died June 2, 1808, aged 38 yrs, 1 mo., 12 days." "Stephen V. R. Schuyler, born Oct. 3, 1786; died July 18, 1832, aged 45 yrs., 9 mos., 15 days."

There was another small graveyard east of it, on the west side of the Greenbush Road, near the later intersection of Fourth and Madison streets, where there was a number of the graves of the early inhabitants of Troy.

The first public burial-ground in the village extended along the east side of Third Street, from State Street to the lot on which the First Baptist Church is built. The patroon, Jacob D. Van der Heyden, conveyed it to the trustees of the village on May 10th, 1796. Before the close of the century it contained the graves of many of the settlers. It is said that the last interment made in it was that of the body of Platt Titus, who died on April 30th 1833. At first a fence of rough boards inclosed it. In 1838, the pale fence was removed and a more ornamental picket-fence of iron substituted. When the ground was chosen, in 1875, for the site of the City Hall, there were one hundred and fifty-six graves still there; many of the remains having been disinterred in previous years and buried in Mount Ida and Oakwood cemeteries. All the remains found in the plat now covered by the City Hall and the pavement were removed to Oakwood Cemetery at the expense of the city. Some of !

the graves between the building and the First Baptist Church were not opened. Those marked by tombstones were covered with them, and the enclosed space was then evenly sodded.

Among the provisions of the village trustees for the interment of the dead was the purchase of a pall, a large black cloth, fringed with heavy cord and tasseled at the corners, used to cover the coffins carried on the village bier, a long, wooden, black-painted frame, with projecting arms and legs. A black hearse, drawn by a horse, was also provided by the trustees of the village..

To provide other ground for the burial of the dead, a meeting of the freeholders and inhabitants was held on August 25th, 1813, at Seymour's Inn. The trustees having been authorized to raise $1,250 to buy sufficient land for the purpose, Timothy Hutton, Hugh Peebles, and Esaias Warren were appointed to select it. Stephen Van Rensselaer, having stipulated to give the village three and three-fourths acres of land, on the eastern declivity of Mount Ida, west of the Poesten Kill, should the trustees within two years use it for a burial-ground, the remains of George Young were interred there, and the trustees were given a deed, dated January 20th, 1815, of the property. On May 27th, George Tibbits, Gurdon Corning, Thomas Skelding, and Dr. John Loudon were appointed to report a plan designating the order in which graves in it should be dug and were instructed to have a part of the ground leveled. Besides the dilapidated row of vaults on the western side of this neglected bur!

ial-ground, the tombstones still standing at the head of some of the graves bear epitaphs to implore "The passing tribute of a sigh." Two small headstones preserve in rain-worn letters the following inscriptions:

"In memory of Mr. George Young who died November 6, 1814, AE. 55 years. Note. - The subject of the above inscription is the first person whose mortal remains have been deposited in this burying-ground."

"William Fraser, born at Inverness, Scotland, March 25, 1753, died April 25, 1826."

The stone inscribed with the latter sentence is already "to dumb forgetfulness a prey," and soon the memory of the man, who was the first to make a public prayer in the little village of Vanderheyden, and to perform with exemplary efficiency the duties of village grave-digger and bell-ringer, and sexton of the First Presbyterian Church, will be shrouded in the oblivion of the past.

When the "burying-ground on the hill," became closely occupied with graves, the city, on January 1st, 1832, purchased twelve and three-tenths acres of land, to which was given the name of Mount Ida Cemetery, on the south side of the Poesten Kill, and east of the road to Albia. On February 5th, 1835, the city sold one hundred and thirteen perches of it to the trustees of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, which is now known as the Old Catholic Burying Ground.

One of the most conspicuous monuments in Mount Ida Cemetery is the marble one marking the grave of Col. Albert Pawling, who died November 10th, 1837, aged 87 years.

Not far from it is a monument erected to the memory of a noted lawyer of Troy, whose intellectual gifts and personal eccentricities had great fame in the past.

"John Bird, whose ashes are deposited under this marble, died on the 2d day of February, 1806, aged 37."

On another monument is inscribed: "Jacob I. Vanderheyden, died August 23, 1801, aged 52 years."

"Maria Van Schaick, wife of Jacob I. Vanderheyden, died April 6, 1813, aged 57 years."

In another part of the cemetery is the tomb of the first treasurer of the First Presbyterian Church and the author of a number of religious works. On the headstone marking it is inscribed:

"Benjamin Gorton, died August 14, 1836, in the 79th year of his age. He engaged in the revolutionary struggle in 1776, and served during the war. He became a resident of Troy in 1791."

To get to St. Johns you take Oakwood Avenue to the very end (past Oakwood and St. Peters Cemetery). At the end of Oakwood take a left, and then take an immediate left up a hill. Drive a short distance and the cemetery will be on your right. Take a right and there are two entrances, the first is the new section, the second is the older section. It is a relatively small cemetery and very easy to explore.

I had not been to my paternal grandparents grave since I was at my grandmothers wake in 1957. Several years ago I drove through the entrance to the old section, went a short distance and recognized a large monument, parked my car and walked right to the grave. It was almost eerie that I knew exactly where to walk after so many years and since I was only 7 when I went there before.

Who knows what's wrong with those guys...maybe the spaceship he was flying around in is still in operation. But like you that's frustrating. If I lived in Troy I would just go sit on the door step and wait. I have every intention of doing that on my next visit. When I asked if my ggrandfather was in the book he left and came back a while later and all he said was yes.

Somebody told me it had to do with the uprising and the men here who were supporting it. If you go please get my info also. Tanks, jd

Joan,

Just a thought....Was this a City directory listing? The directories would list a person's name followed by his occupation, sometimes the address of the place of work, and then the place of residence of the person. The letter "h" before the address would indicate that the person was living in a house. Limerick was the name of an alley in Troy during the time frame you mentioned. So maybe your ancestor lived in a house located on Limerick. Or....I could be wrong!

There was a Limerick Alley. Maybe someone in the Troy area can do a lookup for you in the 1868 city directory.

Ok...here goes.....

My mother's side:

My Jordans came from ??? Northern Ireland. Family story says it was during the potato famine, and that my great grandfather (WILLIAM JORDAN) b. dec 9, 1864, was born on the ship coming over. What ship?

The first confirmed census is 1900 with William married to (#2) SOPHIA KIMMERLE (b. June 1872), her father (JACOB M. KUMMERLE) from Germany and mother (CATHERINE K. BAUS) from Switzerland, imm. ca. 1852-6 living in West Troy (Watervliet) NY. on 25th Street, and later onto 10th Avenue. Who was first wife?

My goal...as you can see from the Jordan line is try to figure it all out...William father is supposed to be a William, but the 1880 and 1870 census have 2 different families...one married to a Mary C from Scotland and the other married to a Sara from New Foundland, both living in Troy. Seeing how the Kimmerle line originally moved to Troy from Yonkers...I am assuming that my Jordan's lived in Troy also. Which line is my g-grandfather from? I have talked to Jordan's from Green Island..can't match them up. I have burial records for all the Jordans and Kimmerle from Albany Rural, it doesn't help...

Jordan's:

William b. Dec 1864 (stone says 1865) d. Jan 23, 1923 married 1st: ?????

sons: William b. November 1888 John b. July 1890

married 2nd: Sophia Ki(u)mmerle 1893

children:

ARTHUR KIMMERLE b. Apr 1894 d. 1928 (electrocuted) married ADA MC
CLELAND (sp?)

FLORENCE E. b. Aug 1896 d. ? married MICHAEL SOLTIS

FRANCES (FANNIE) b. 1903 d. 1980's married ALBERT BERRY

GLADYS b. 1906 d. 1980's married SAMUEL VETOICH

ALMA LETTS b. Dec 26, 1909 d. 1994 mrd LOUIS F. SMITH

ANNE b. 1916 d. ?? married DONALD LEWIS

Lived at 2424 10th Avenue, which is still occupied be Frances' and Albert's son.

Other names in the family:

Mother's side: SMITH, CRAFT, BAUS

Father's side: WALKER, CHISAMORE, HALL, HARLOW, WEATHERHEAD

Hi List,

Someone local who is interested in joining our group asked me when the next meeting is. The 3rd Thursday would be next Thursday, Jan. 15. Are we meeting then, and will it be at the Grove (which is where the canceled Dec. meeting was supposed to be)? And the time is 6:15, right? If this is correct, I will re-post the agenda items I received from the list, early next week.

I haven't seen too much activity on the list this past week, not surprising, due to the holidays.

Thanks,

Subject: [TIGS] West Troy Brennans

I am finally posting a summary of my Kilkenny Brennans and would also love to find some more information on Lahy and Cody. Are there any other listers from Troy, Watervliet or Cohoes with Kilkenny connections?

Lynne Sisk

I am researching James BRENNAN of Castlecomer, Kilkenny, son of Martin and Mary (?) Brennan. He was born about 1815 - 1820. The Brennans were stonemasons who settled in WEST TROY, now WATERVLIET, NY. James Brennan arrived in New York in 1846 but other Brennans arrived in 1839. Brennan brothers or cousins are Lawrence, Thomas, Martin, Garret and another James. My James married Margaret (Lahy) LEAHY, daughter of Michael and Mary CODY Leahy, also from Kilkenny. They were married in Watervliet, formerly West Troy, in 1847. James Lahy and John Cody lived in neighboring Cohoes NY in the 1860s . The Cody family must have moved on, but the Lahys stayed. Apparently there are no Irish records available on my James and Margeret Lahy Brennan in Kilkenny.

I think we should give the Grove a try to see how we like it. The 15th would be the third Thursday as we originally decided was the day of the month we would meet. As far as I know right now, I'll be there.

Hi, Folks,

Since I live near Lowell, MA, I can't get to the meeting. But I really like the item about Emly in Tipperary. I think it would be great if the group could identify many places in Ireland that sent significant numbers of people to Troy, as well as the rough time periods of those migrations. The individual family histories would help, but it might be useful to assemble the info other than by individual family.

My Dunns, for instance, came from Kildare, around Robertstown, Prosperous, and Clane, in the later 1850s, and I know there were other people from that area who went to Troy as well.

Enjoy the meeting and keep the rest of us posted!

How, about an agenda item for someone else, besides me, to take over the website. I am just not doing it justice because I have been so busy.

Re: #2216338351

There is an old 1912 diary up for auction on e-bay believed to have been written by Edward T. Chillman, an RPI professor who lived in either Troy or Lansingburgh. I believe the auction ends on the 18th. The excerpt that the seller posts on e-bay is quite interesting in and of itself.

I have no connection to this item but thought others might be interested in reading the excerpt. The auction number is listed above.

List-

Just wanted to say I had a real nice time at the TIGS evening at the Grove and we missed all those who could not be there. Hope all made it home safely in that cold. We had a real nice dinner. Enjoyed meeting the new folks and seeing the "old" ones again. My dear mother was pleased to meet all the folks there also. I look forward to our next bull session. I am glad to be a part of the group.

Please remind me of what it is I volunteered for!

Jeane-I look forward to learning htm or ftp or whatever it was.

Frank- drive safe on your trip. Wear your seatbelt.

Something that came up at the meeting last night...

Please, when you are replying to another posting, don't just hit reply (which will then include all of the entire original posting). Either use "quoted reply" (if available on your server), OR delete all but the pertinent part of the original posting when using "reply." This will help cut down the size of the posting and eliminate repetition. Also, you won't have to scroll all the way down through a posting(s) you've already read, to get to the "new" reply.

Thanks, and if you have any questions, as always, feel free to contact me directly, either on or off list.

Lauri, please post a reminder for us just before the IrishFest, and we'll stop by. I was there last year, too...which booth is yours? And will you be at the Irish Fest on Friday Jan. 30 at the Convention Center in Albany?

I'm not sure if they have food booths there, this will be my first year attending that one.

I also meant to put in my previous posting...please change subject lines when replying, if appropriate.

In the most recent CDGS Newsletter there were a couple of photocopying tips that some of us might find helpful during our research work.

"When copying yellowed newsprint try using the "the photo" setting on the copier to drop the dark background.

Here is a trick to copy a page that has a lot of bleed through from the other side. Place the side you want copied on the copier glass, cover the backside with a BLACK piece of paper before closing the cover. The solid black makes the black type from the backside seem to disappear."

What's the date, Lauri, so I can plan when to be up in your area this year. Funny thing, I was so intent on seeing/hearing Tommy Maken that Kay and I got good up front seats four acts before he came on and then took turns going for food, walking around etc. When I got over to Dublin in October, my friend went out one night and the next night at dinner she mentioned she had attended a Paul Brady concert in downtown Dublin. She preceeded to describe his music and put on his cd. The next day, as I was putting on my 2003 Irish 2000 teeshirt, I noticed he was at Altamont when we were there in August....how small is this world?

Subject: [TIGS] Lamb Shank Recipe

Pat Connors wanted my lamb shank recipe so I will share it with the TIGS list. I had served this to Pat a couple of years ago and she loved it. Mentioned that today is our yearly lamb shank dinner where we celebrate February birthdays of five immediate family members - wife Cathy, daughters Erin and Laurie, daughter in-law Anne, and granddaughter Victoria - so that triggered Pat's request for the recipe.

Have 14 lamb shanks cooking in the oven and the aroma is already drifting through the house.

4 lamb shanks (about 1 pound each)
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 large celery rib, diced
1 medium onion, diced
1 14 1/2 to 16 ounce can stewed tomatoes
1 13 1/4 to 14 1/2 ounce can beef broth
1 garlic clove, minced
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
1 16 to 19 ounce can white kidney beans (cannellini), drained

1. Coat lamb shanks with flour. In 5-quart Dutch oven over medium-high heat, in hot salad oil, cook lamb shanks until browned on all sides. Remove shanks to bowl.
2. In drippings remaining in Dutch oven, over medium-heat, cook celery and onion until well browned. Return shanks to Dutch oven; add stewed tomatoes, beef broth, garlic, bay leaf, thyme, salt, and pepper; over high heat, heat to boiling.
3. Cover Dutch oven and bake in 350 degree oven 1 & 1/2 hours or until lamb shanks are fork-tender, turning meat once.
4. When lamb shanks are done, skim fat from liquid in Dutch oven. Stir in white kidney beans; heat through. Discard bay leaf.

Serve over linguini pasta. It's sooooooo good!

I usually add a little more thyme and bay leaf than called for and cook longer than the time mentioned.

Regards,

Bill McGrath

I'm wondering if the list members realize that there are no Archives for this list. I know some of us have been posting stories, research tips, etc., and just want people to be aware they are not being "saved" by RootsWeb.

I asked Pat about this today, and she said: "lists for organizations aren't archived because the group wants to keep their correspondence between themselves and private and not open to the public."

I have no problem with this either way, but would like comments from the list members as to whether we want to start archiving our list or leave it as "private." If the members wanted all postings saved, I would need to request this from RootsWeb. Otherwise, be aware that postings are not being saved, and to preserve info we would then need to add it to the website.

Thanks bill, I printed your message off, for further reference, due to a little bad health I haven't been able to follow up. I have the micro film at the Family History Center in Birmingham MI. but have been unsuccessful, I have not found my ancestors as yet but I'm still searching. I need another day or so because it is not indexed. I also have the film with the Wards on it. Thanks again I sure appreciate your help. Regards, Jim T.

Dear List,

I wanted to let you all know that my dear mom, whom I have spoken about so often on this list and at our meetings, passed away on Tuesday. She so enjoyed the Genealogy info from this list and others that I shared with her, and would always try to remember about the names and places that were mentioned on the list, so that she could also share some of her firsthand memories.

I also want to say what a comfort it is to me to know some of the details about my mom's parents and grandparents and great grandparents and so on, due to my genealogy research. It gives me such a wonderful additional sense of who my mother was, the people my mom came from, and most important, who she is with and is caring for her now. I never really thought about that part of genealogy much until now.

Sincerely,
Donna

Donna, My heartfelt sympathy is with you at this time, and I am so glad you were able to enjoy being with your mother right up to the end. I am sure your sharing with her the memories of her life made her think of her life as much more meaningful than she had previously thought. My mother-in-law is in the late stages of Alzheimer's and my own mother is in the early stages of that same terrible disease, and I wish I could have the relationship with them that you so obviously enjoyed.

Please take comfort in that she is now with others who love her,

Ruth Cherecwich

Dear Donna,

My deepest sympathy to you and yours upon the death of your Mom. How wonderful that she enjoyed your genealogy search with you and what a comfort it must be to think of her now with her ancestors around her.

Sincerely,

Donna my very sincere condolences in the loss of your Mom. Only those that have experienced this loss can appreciate it. But just the very sincere interest you had in not only knowing her but knowing who she was and where she came from should be a comfort. I think all of us who share this common interest in our ancestors have come to a reality and that is that life may end but it is remembered and cherished by those that are left behind. Her presence will be missed but her memory passed from generation to generation.

Hi Listers,

While surfing around on the net today, I came across a website for live broadcasts of lots of radio stations and thought I would pass on the link for the Irish National Public Radio station.

It is really neat!

To the left of the screen on the main page just click on "Click here to listen Live".

<http://www.rte.ie/radiol/>

Enjoy!

If this looks like someone in your family, check the NY Irish mailing list archives to contact the poster.

Hi:

As most of you know Irish 2000 will sponsor its first ever Winterfest on Friday Jan. 30th, 2004 at the Empire State Plaza Convention Center in Albany. All the details are on our site www.irish2000fest.com Just click on the Winterfest Icon on the left of the screen and then look for the menu item that most interests you (tickets, directions, hotels, schedules etc) Keep in mind that all seats are general admission and first come, first serve, doors open at 6:30 and the show starts by 7:05, so get there early and stay late. Also, don't miss the chance to buy our first annual Winterfest long sleeve shirts and pint glasses, They are sure to be a collector's item.

Remember also that all attendees must have a photo ID for security purposes. If you are bringing kids the price is $5 for any child 12 and under and full price after that. If you have any questions, please e-mail me back at info@irish2000fest.com. See you next Friday and Slainte!

I have been in Thailand for most of January and am getting caught up on mail. I love to hear all your input and noticed that the last item I receive was digest 12, which was dated 1/18. Has the site been inactive, or did I miss some of them ?
Thanks
